Admissions Committee
African Leadership University
Mastercard Foundation Scholars Program

Wholehearted Recommendation for Mr. TEBA BRIGHT EXCEL

Dear Members of the Admissions Committee,

It is with great respect and genuine conviction that I write this letter in support of Mr. Teba Bright Excel as he applies for admission and scholarship consideration at African Leadership University through the Mastercard Foundation Scholars Program.

As his Program Coordinator at JFN HIGH-TECH UNIVERSITY INSTITUTE, I have had the privilege of knowing Teba Bright Excel as a young man whose determination to pursue advanced education stands firm even in the face of profound financial hardship. Teba Bright successfully completed his Higher National Diploma (HND) in Software Engineering with us at the JFN High-Tech University Institute in Cameroon. Unfortunately, due to serious financial constraints, he has been unable to immediately continue his studies toward the Bachelor's degree. This interruption, however, has not diminished his passion for learning, his intellectual curiosity, or his dream of contributing meaningfully to the technological development of Africa.

Bright comes from a modest background where access to quality education is not easily attainable. Yet, what distinguishes him is his unwavering resilience. Even in difficult circumstances, he continues to demonstrate discipline, humility, and a deep commitment to improving his future through knowledge and innovation. His interest in technology, particularly in software engineering, reflects a desire not only to build a career but also to develop solutions that can improve lives and strengthen communities.

Throughout the time I have known him, Bright has shown strong analytical thinking, a willingness to learn, and a remarkable sense of responsibility toward the people around him. He often speaks about how technology can bridge gaps in education, access to information, and opportunities for young people across Africa. This vision, combined with his perseverance, convinces me that he has the potential to grow into a thoughtful and impactful leader in the technology sector.

The mission of the African Leadership University and the Mastercard Foundation Scholars Program to empower talented young Africans from underprivileged backgrounds deeply aligns with Bright's journey. He is precisely the type of student whose life could be transformed by access to a supportive academic environment and whose future contributions could, in turn, transform many others. With the opportunity to pursue his Bachelor's in Software Engineering at your institution, I am confident that Bright will not only excel academically but will also embody the values of leadership, service, and innovation that your program seeks to cultivate.

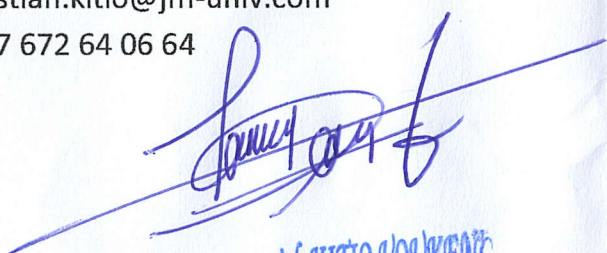

For these reasons, I wholeheartedly and without reservation recommend Mr. Teba Bright Excel for admission and scholarship consideration. Supporting Bright is not merely supporting a student; it is investing in a young African whose determination, integrity, and potential can inspire meaningful change.

Please feel free to contact me should you require any further information.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. Kitio Christian
Coordinator, HND Software Engineering Program
